

Phishing Checklist

Have you received an e-mail, supposedly from Computer Services, requesting your password or prompting you to click on a hyperlink to help fix a problem? Beware! It might be a phishing attempt.

Use this check list to help determine if it bogus or not.

- Is it from Cuesta?
Does the address in the "From" field end in "...cuesta.edu"?
- Is it addressed to you?
Is the name in "To" field yours (as opposed to blank or addressed to something like "undisclosed-recipients")?
- Does "Cuesta" appear anywhere in the message text?
- If there's a link, does it point to a "...cuesta.edu" site?
If you hover the mouse pointer without clicking over the hyperlink, does the displayed web address contain "cuesta.edu"?

If you checked all the boxes, then the email is probably safe.

However, if 2 or more of the boxes are blank, then the e-mail is highly suspect and may be a phishing attempt.

Remember, Computer Services will never ask for your password via e-mail.

If in doubt, please contact Computer Services at x3248.
